The striking River Men Form an Union—Preparing to Celebrate Labor Day.

The strike among the dock hands and steamboat rowdies generally still continues. Yesterday afternoon Charles McMahon and O. S. Leach, representing the Trades and Labor Union, visited the levee and spent some time in quiet conversation with the strike leaders. They urged them to organize a union and enter the Trades and Labor Union. They argued that such an organization would be of great benefit to them in their future demands and result in their material advancement greatly. The leaders listened attentively to the arguments of the Trades and Labor Union representative and promised to take some action leading to the organization of a union. The strikers ask an advance in pay from $1.00 to $1.25 per day. The Architectural Iron Workers' Union, which was organized a few weeks since, had great attendance at its regular meeting last evening at the Trades and Labor Union headquarters on South Broadway. Lewis Friesen presided and several new members were initiated. The reports from the iron workers indicate that they are satisfied with the present scale of wages. Schaefer & Koken recently advanced the pay of their employees and are solicited whatever on their part.

A meeting of the Ways and Means Committee of the Trades and Labor Union will be held during the week to arrange preliminaries for the celebration of Labor Day, which will be observed on the first Monday in September. The intention of the leaders is to have a large parade on the day of last May. The day will be observed generally by the labor unions throughout the country.

To the Traveling Public.

You will find the most complete assortment of trunks and traveling bags, such as dress, steamer and baggage, suitcases, valises, satchels and valises, and a large stock of all descriptions, at lowest prices at Market & Meisels', 420 North Sixth street.

A Royal Celebration.

According to custom "Alpha Council No. 1, Legion of Honor" at its meeting Thursday night last observed the occasion in being the eye of the glorious Fourth in a manner long to be remembered. A committee of five had made all preparations for a gala night, starting no pains to make the entertainment perfect in every respect. The hall was handsomely decorated with the national colors in many beautiful and artistic designs—the program was splendid and a grand, leather, leather was served. At the close of the regular business the arrival of a distinguished party was announced. When to the tune of "Yankee Doodle," Guide Farnsworth escorted the hall escort, "Uncle Sam" in the time, accompanied by Alpha's twelve well-dressed "Patriotic Guards" in full uniform, and escorted the guests to the ball.

This was the signal for an outburst of enthusiasm. After a march around the ball the Guide brought his guests to a grand, leather, leather was served. At the close of the regular business the arrival of a distinguished party was announced. When to the tune of "Yankee Doodle," Guide Farnsworth escorted the hall escort, "Uncle Sam" in the time, accompanied by Alpha's twelve well-dressed "Patriotic Guards" in full uniform, and escorted the guests to the ball.

THEY FOUND THE BALL

AND ADMINISTERED ANOTHER CRUSHING DEFEAT TO BROOKLYN.

Boston Turns Out to See a Great Tussle Between the Leaders and Tall-Enders—A Tiresome National League Game at Cleveland—Cleveland's Defeat—Reckless Chicago Players Released—Drift From the Diamond.

ESTERDAY afternoon the Browns and the Brooklyn team met in the third game of the series and the Brooklyn were defeated. The Browns played a strong game at the bat and in the field, while the Brooklyn were badly off in their field play. About two thousand people witnessed the game and were well pleased with the game and the Browns.

"Chief" Ross did not hold down first base yesterday. The "chief" didn't report in time to put on his uniform, and Jack Nelson having spent most of the evening previous talking over old times. The chief will go back on first base to-day, however. His favorite position is in the outfield.

From the seats yesterday, President Von der Ahe released Gittinger, the left fielder of his team. Gittinger has been playing poor ball of late, and has not been taking very good care of himself.

BOSTON, July 7.—With the score 8 to 1 against them at the beginning of the third inning the Boston Red Sox players began to play ball to win, and during the next four innings managed to secure a run and ultimately earned their victory. Boston presented a rather weak team. Stover, Irwin and Root were the only players who were not hit by the Brooklyn team.

I have had patients from many States—from Texas, Missouri, Maryland, New Hampshire, New York and even from Canada. Many of them are "poor patients." For such cases, when they come from distant points, the fees usually pay; but here in New York the payment is gratuitous.

The rule can be laid down for telling whether

Mothers who care to make baby-clothes can-

Put a chamber lamp in your guest's room. The idea is pretty, inexpensive and thoughtful. The lamp is made of a few dollars' worth of glass and has a base of wood. It has an owl in one side, a cat in the second, and a spaniel in the third, with moose horns for the eyes, through which the light softly glows. There are lower lanterns showing tulip cups, pink roses, magnolias, tiger lilies, and carnations in bisque, glass and porcelain. There are also a few of the high collectors' lamps, with

"Line, must go to the Dauphin, though I go on my knees." Impelled by a frenzied religious ardor that unsexed her, crazed, yet wise, shrinking yet bold, cruel yet tender, she had said, "No! no! no!"

NEW YORK. July 2.—We sail to-day, after a most delightful stay in New York. If the rest of the journey is as pleasant as the tour has been up to the present time, we shall enjoy ourselves hugely. Already we have heard of the day at Niagara and the ride down the beautiful Hudson River. Now the agreeable task has been assigned me by the POST-DISPATCH tourists of telling the story of our sojourn in the metropolis. I might sum up the statement in a few words and say we had a superb time, but our friends will want a more detailed account of our doings here, and so I shall give it to them.

We stopped at the Fifth Avenue Hotel and were promptly quartered on the parlor floor with our individual rooms inside and private reception room in which to greet our friends. Every attention was paid us, the POST-DISPATCH having evidently made very complete arrangements for our entertainment here. A representative of the POST-DISPATCH took us in charge immediately upon our arrival and barely gave us time to have our dinner when he whisked us into a box at the Madison Square Garden and we found ourselves looking at the wonderful ballet, more splendid and extensive

P. S.—On board Cunard steamship Rothschild July 4, I must add a few lines to the letter I wrote you. The saloon is crowded and there is great excitement, with ringing bells and friends parting from each other. I have been at the pier we found as Secretary of the St. Louis Exposition and as the St. Louis is the first ship to leave for the St. Louis Exposition, which came to wish us good-bye. We also found a magnificent basket of food from the Port-Distarch and bouquets from the same generous source. A friend has also sent me a basket of fruit and flowers. Fanning and Miles, Erick have baskets from St. Louis friends. To all these thank for the fragrant favors and to the state for the beautiful bouquets as the nautical people say, and is perfect. I am sure the Port-Distarch and bouquets from the Port-Distarch. Well, the hour of "sweet sorrow" has come at last; we must part. The Port-Distarch is a fine ship and is not passengers to go ashore. I am sure to thank our friends once more for their warm and abundant and to say good-bye.

TWO MYSTERIES.

Wm. Alf. Young Unaccountably Disappears From His Home and Business.

Leaving a Will, a Record of His Life and a Book of Original Poems.

The Police Still Hunting for Jose De Laverne Who Disappeared From the Merchants' Hotel—A Letter Pointing to Foul Play—He Had Agreed to Go to the Theater With Some Unknown Parties on the Night of His Disappearance—Officers Employed on Both Cases.

AM GOING on an excursion this evening," said Wm. Alf. Young last Wednesday, as he was knocked at the door of his landlady, Mrs. Jennings, at the corner of Tenth street and Market, St. Louis, and returned to the evening paper, which he had borrowed a short time before.

Mrs. Jennings and Miss Jennings have a flat at the corner of Tenth street and Market, St. Louis, and returned to the evening paper, which he had borrowed a short time before.

Young was a collector and has been in St. Louis about eighteen months, coming here from Texas. He is an Englishman and is 31 years of age. No one has any idea where he has gone and no one knows of any reason why he should so suddenly disappear.

The curtains to his snug little room were drawn when a POST-DISPATCH reporter was given permission to glance inside by Mrs. Jennings, who is the landlady of the flat.

The room was a typical bachelor apartment; a room bed, covered by a snowy spread; a small table covered with books, a bureau, a commode and a writing desk.

Behind the door stood a trunk. On the wall were hung several suits of clothes and a hat. The room was cluttered with books, a bureau, a commode and a writing desk.

and so young lady has read them yet—"Such is life."

One often has I wonder, in this pushing on through life, rough ways, Of the endless frays of fortune, That rule and chance and destiny.

Yet again I am about to venture, With the heart of a young man, To seek the unknown, tender question, To find out what the future holds.

Little indeed I know of it, One so gentle, good and true, But I have had my share of it, For I have had my share of it.

Oh, bright blue eyes, long lashes under, Twin homes of love and thought and wonder, Sweet is your magic power, for I see you where'er I go.

Little of my life, my star, my sun, Birthday greetings I send thee, dearest one.

THE MISSING YOUNG MAN. Young is described as being about 5 feet 10 inches in height, florid complexion and red mustache. He talks with an English accent.

He is said to have been very quiet and unobtrusive. In his business relations nothing has yet been found to the detriment of the missing man's reputation. It is thought that he may have become affected by the heat and wear of the summer.

Where is Jose De Laverne? Since June 9 Jose De Laverne has been an odd sight to his friends. If the earth had suddenly opened and allowed him into its yawning depths all trace of him could not have been better hidden.

The case does not appear to be a common every-day city disappearance. Behind the mere fact that the handsome young stranger is not to be found there is a well-founded suspicion that he has been kidnapped.

At the hotel where he was staying at the time he disappeared, which is a well-known place, he was last seen on the morning of June 9.

De Laverne arrived in St. Louis and went immediately to the re-opened Merchants' Hotel on Washington street, near Olive. He was registered in a room on the second floor, and he was seen by the proprietors of the hotel until the evening of the 9th.

He kept his business to himself and on one occasion only did he appear to be in the hotel. He was seen by the proprietors of the hotel until the evening of the 9th.

Realty Already Owned by Railroads in Camp Spring Valley.

Facts Concerning Gould's Plan to Locate the New Union Depot on Washington Avenue.

He Has Declared in Favor of That Location, but Will Agree to the Decision of the Board, as the Perfection of Their Purchase Plans Will Go Far Towards the Completion of His Depot Scheme.

He Succeeded in Getting the Property—A Diagram Showing the Extensive Purchases of Realty Already Made Between the Tracks and Market Street Between Eighteenth and Twenty-First Streets.

THE announcement by the SUNDAY POST-DISPATCH of the proposed location of the new Union Depot on Washington avenue and Twenty-second street was the real estate sensation of the past week, and to the owners of property between Market street and Washington avenue, along the line of the Camp Spring Valley, it was particularly sensational.

For several weeks past agents have been secretly negotiating in this territory, but when questioned they deny having been selling for the railroad companies. Many of the details are made in perfect good faith, for there is no doubt that several of the agents have been simply acting for middlemen. The fact concerning the location of the new Union Depot is that Jay Gould, as recently as two weeks ago expressed his conviction that the proper place for the St. Louis Union Depot was at Twenty-second street and Washington avenue, and the plan indicated by him was the one outlined in the Sunday POST-DISPATCH. Thereafter, however, intervening circumstances have changed the plan.

It is within the bounds of possibility, to get from the city of St. Louis extensive concessions before building the Union Depot, and the main demand will be for extensive and economic connections between the Union Depot and the Iron Mountain Depot, along the line of the old Mill Creek Valley sewer. Mr. Gould is now the exclusive owner of several blocks of ground in the territory involved, and these will not under ordinary circumstances be sold for less than $100,000 each.

A little later the railroad and Union Depot boom struck Washington avenue, and the plan indicated by him was the one outlined in the Sunday POST-DISPATCH. Thereafter, however, intervening circumstances have changed the plan.

west of Eighteenth street. Mr. C. C. Maffitt, President of the railway company, in speaking of the subject, said: "I have had a number of offers for the property, and have been approached by several people who seemed anxious to keep the matter quiet. I do not know that any of them are connected with the railroad, and I will sell unless the depot comes in there, because I can use the property for the present purposes, but the depot should come in there, and the property will not be available for any purpose, so I may sell."

NEW YORK, July 5.—As the governors of New York on Thursday a decision was reached that a complete suspension of business on Friday and Saturday was in order, operators did not expect much in the way of a market early in the week. The fact is that the four days of almost unparalleled dullness was witnessed, and so far as the stock market proper is concerned, the dealings give the reviewer very little to write about.

CHARY OF JEFF.

The Democratic Committee Make Him Agree to Support the St. Joseph Platform.

His Services as a Speaker Accepted, But He Will Be Called Off If He Makes a Break.

Chandler Did Not Say He Would Speak in Favor of the Platform in His Letter to the Committee, and His Omission Was Believed to Be Intentional—He Declares He Will Support the Platform, and That He Will Not Be Called Off If He Makes a Break.

JEFFERSON CHANDLER, the aspirant for Senator "East" in the St. Louis State Senate, received a letter from Secretary of the State Committee, R. F. Walker, yesterday.

The letter was a reply to Mr. Chandler's request to assist the committee in the State campaign. And thereby hangs a tale.

When the State Committee met in the Democratic headquarters in the Temple Building on last Tuesday morning, there was nothing but the question of Chandler's services which came up for their consideration.

Which perplexed them more than the communication from Mr. Chandler. The committee deliberated over it for some time without being able to make up their minds just what to do with it and finally referred it to the Executive Committee.

When the committee met yesterday, the subject was taken up. The committee was divided, but the majority was in favor of calling Chandler off.

"Do you notice that he says nothing about speaking in favor of our platform?" the Secretary was instructed to read the communication again. Then there were a few moments of silent study. Finally some one said:

"Of course courtesy demands that we send a reply."

"Oh yes, of course," said all the rest in chorus.

What kind of a reply that was wanted was what puzzled them. A few minutes more of silent study ensued, and then a bright idea found itself into the brain of one of the statesmen.

"I'll tell you," he said. "Let's instruct the Secretary to send a letter in which we will make it clear to Mr. Chandler that he will be expected to uphold the platform as well as the candidates."

The suggestion met with general favor and under the direction of the committee, Secretary Walker then wrote out a reply, which was about as follows:

"Your request to speak during the coming campaign, under the auspices of the State Committee, in the Temple Building, on Saturday, July 13th, has been received and referred to the Executive Committee. It has been decided to accept your services as a speaker in the coming campaign, and to call on you to support the platform as well as the candidates."

"Here is the reply I received from the Secretary of the State Committee. It says nothing about calling me off. It says only that I am to support the platform and the candidates."

"It refers to your offer to speak for the platform and the candidates," said one of the members of the committee. "Did you say anything in your communication about speaking for the platform?"

"No, but I said the party and that is the same thing."

"The committee did not look on it that way. They thought it was a promise to support the platform and the candidates."

RECLAIMING THE DESERT.

GOVERNMENT ENGINEERS BEGIN WORK IN WESTERN KANSAS.

IRRIGATION OF THE HOPE OF THE SECTION—REUNITED FULFILLMENT OF THE CENTRAL KANSAS IRRIGATION ACT—THE FARMERS' ALLIANCE—OTHER POLITICAL COMPLICATIONS—INGALLS' WRITING LETTERS AGAIN—KANSAS NEWS.

By Telegram to the Post-Dispatch. OGAN, Kan., July 5.—A large corps of United States Geological Survey engineers are in camp here, making topographical measurements for the Government map to determine on a system of irrigation.

Measurements cover the entire northern portion of the State, and will be valuable as determining the spots of insufficient rainfall. The department is having prepared a map which will show drainage, location of divides, general features, possibilities of damming, etc.

By Telegram to the Post-Dispatch. OGAN, Kan., July 5.—The irrigation survey is completed, thus giving the poor people a chance. The survey also investigates the arid lands possibilities.

Western Kansas is much interested in the movement. It is the only salvation of the country for the Great American Desert exists in more places than is admitted. There are many countries where scarcely enough people live to form a voting precinct; there are deserts of farms by the thousands; there is suffering and almost desperate need of water.

By Telegram to the Post-Dispatch. OGAN, Kan., July 5.—No greater or more welcome disappointment has for years been given the farmers of Central Kansas than has resulted from the harvesting of the wheat crop.
